LVR-RGN by RegenX Naturals

Promotes optimum biliary function and detoxification***

Product Details

This product was developed to support normal liver and gallbladder function. Most of the toxins we are exposed to today require the liver to turn these toxins into water soluble form allowing the kidneys to properly filter these toxins out through the urine.

More LVR-RGN Product Details

Mold toxins, heavy metal toxins, herbicides, pesticides, fungicides, and hormones are some examples of toxins the liver converts into a water-soluble form the kidneys can filter. When these toxins can not be removed due to the liver being overwhelmed by these toxins, cells are required to hold these toxins creating dysfunction.

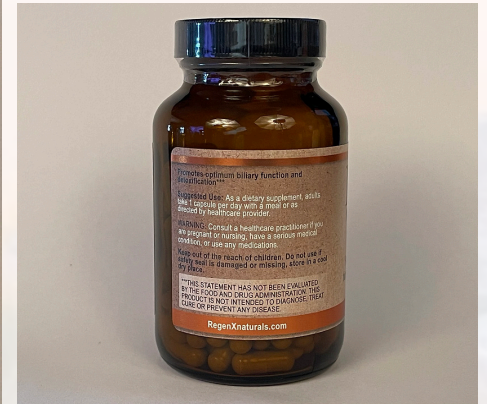

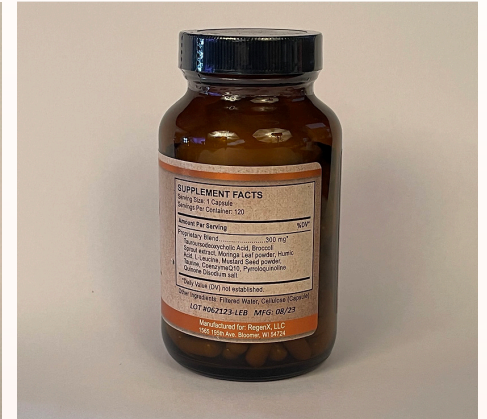

Liver congestion often leads to gallbladder dysfunction due to sludge and stone formation in the gallbladder. Supporting detoxification pathways of liver while offering bile support for the gall bladder allows the biliary system support for clearing toxins and digesting fats.

LVR-RGN when taken with meals supports bile production and normal digestion of fats. When taken between meals or at bedtime, LVR-RGN supports regeneration of liver and gallbladder by supporting phase 1 and phase 2 liver function.,

Patients with sluggish bile production or who have had their gallbladder surgically removed will often require bile support due to the inability to release enough bile to digest fats. Insufficient bile often leads to poor digestion of fats, reabsorption of toxins, SIBO and diarrhea.

Excess estrogens throughout a cycling females' reproductive years, during pregnancy and after birth often cause a gallbladder attack and surgical removal is common. LVR-RGN supports normal bile production, bile flow and phase 1-2 liver detoxification. Chronic fatigue and fibromyalgia are also often associated with chronic liver congestion due to mitochondria dysfunction from unprocessed toxins being held at a cellular level.

JOINT - LIGAMENT by RegenX Naturals

SUPPORT For Arthritis, sports injuries, sprains, joint problems, bruises, muscle strains, tendonitis, and chronic inflammation.

Product Details

Joint ligament cream was developed to provide the joints extra support from micro-tearing that occurs with normal movement in daily life.

SHOP NOW

More JOINT-LIGAMENT Product Details

The arnica base with arnica extracts supports the reduction of inflammation while the amino acid blend supports the local repair of the tissue for all collagen types found in the joint tissue. The copper supports normal mitochondria function while aiding the collagen triple helix to cross-link with optimum strength. The cross-linking of collagen fibers with manganese and copper bonds allows for maximum support in all activities from walking to aggressive athletic sports where explosive movements are required.

Immune System Support

Product Details

Lyme support formula 1 is used in support from individuals suffering from acute or chronic Lyme Disease primarily dealing with Borrelia Burgdorferi.

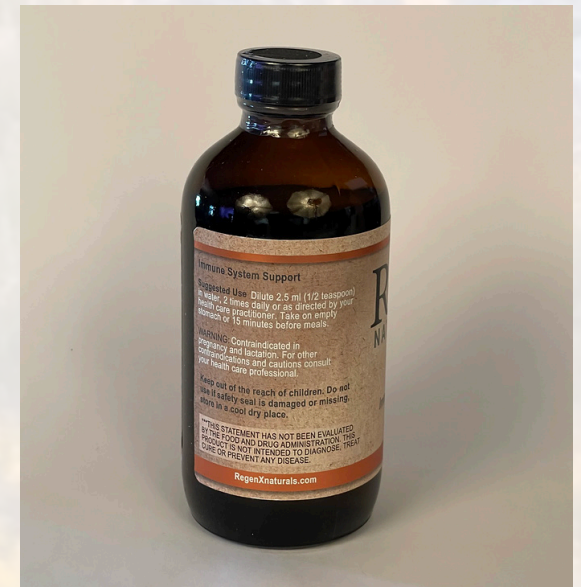

SHOP NOW

More LSF-1 Product Details

This blend of herbs is supportive of the immune system and detoxification pathways.

Often testing will show positive for Borrelia in standard blood tests if an infection is in the acute stages but often miss the chronic areas where Lyme bugs hide long-term weeks after the initial bite or infection is identified by a bulls eye rash or Lyme symptoms of moving pain, brain fog, muscle fatigue or mental exhaustion.

Support for mitochondria and ammonia toxins is also recommended in anyone suffering with acute or chronic Lyme Disease

Immune System Support

Product Details

Lyme Support Formula 2 is used in cases where the primary Lyme symptoms may also have some parasitic or bacterial load that is systemic or localized in the digestive system.

More LSF-2 Product Details

Some pathogens associated with Lyme Disease are bacteria or parasitic in nature but not in the Lyme pathogen category. Immune system and detoxification support is essential in some cases where Lyme Disease is mixed with other pathogens unrelated to Lyme Disease. This formula can be used as a stand-alone or in combination with other LSF products.

Support for mitochondria and ammonia toxins are also recommended in anyone suffering with acute or chronic Lyme Disease

LSF-3 by RegenX Naturals

Immune System Support

Product Details

Lyme Support Formula 3 is used in supporting individuals with chronic or acute cases of Babesia.

More LSF-3 Product Details

Diagnosis of Babesia is difficult at best with lab testing due to the number of types of Babesia. Symptoms include air hunger, stiff neck in the middle of the night or upon waking after a night of sleep, broken sleep, low back pain radiating laterally down the leg, night sweats, and arms falling asleep while sleeping from the elbow down. General fatigue and brain fog are also common with Babesia due to the liver dysfunction that is created by iron dysregulation. These chronic areas of pain will often be resolved completely when Babesia is no longer active.

Babesia tends to hide in the joints, liver, and posterior neck areas which adjustments by chiropractors or physical therapy have no lasting effect.

Liver, mitochondria, and joint support are also important due to the chronic pathogen load and damage that takes place in the cells and connective tissue.

LSF-4 by RegenX Naturals

Immune System Support

Product Details

Lyme support formula 4 is often used in conjunction with other LSF products as extra support for these formulas or after the primary LSF 1,3,5 have been used in the first or second round of support for chronic or acute Lyme Disease.

More LSF-4 Product Details

This product supports the immune system in removing toxins and finding more layers of hidden pathogens either behind a biofilm or hiding behind another pathogen. Often there is a primary pathogen that is active and upon removal from the system, secondary pathogens (bacteria and parasites) will often become active.

Providing support for the other LSF products is often necessary in chronic cases of Lyme Disease due to a weakened immune system. Chronic Lyme in individuals over 50 can become very difficult as the immune system weakens with aging and extra support of detox pathways and cellular energy is required to support the body in removing these pathogens from the system.

LSF-5 by RegenX Naturals

Immune System Support

Product Details

Lyme support Formula 5 was formulated to help individuals suffering from acute or Chronic Lyme when Bartonella is found with lab testing or symptoms correlated with Bartonella.

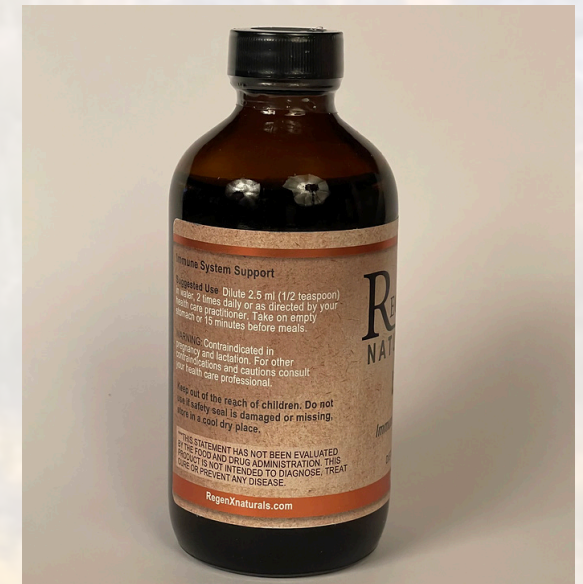

SHOP NOW

More LSF-5 Product Details

This product will help support natural immune functions and detox pathways while using various forms of treatment for Bartonella.

Bartonella often seems to migrate to the lower extremities, affecting the hips, knees, and feet commonly. Chronic plantar fasciitis, sore and swollen knees along with chronic hip pain are often symptoms associated with Bartonella that has buried itself into your ligaments, tendons, and synovial fluid of the joints. Initially, there are no signs of joint degeneration that match up to the level of swelling or pain. These individuals often have had x-rays, and MRIs with no evidence of worn or torn tissue but the pain and inflammation seem to linger even after a few rounds or steroids orally or used locally.

It again is important to remove the Lyme toxins from these tissues creating the inflammation and swelling and support the regeneration of the tissue (ligaments, tendons, and synovial fluid in the affected areas.
